Summary of reasons for decision:

The DVD is sexually explicit. The third scene tends to promote and support the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes by convincingly presenting the woman participant as young person in a manner which implies that young persons are acceptable sexual partners for adult men and legitimate subjects for adult sexual fantasies. Scene one presents strongly degrading, dehumanising and demeaning sexual conduct directed at a woman which degrades her, and women more generally, to a high degree and in a manner that is intended to arouse the viewer. Excisions are required to remove these two scenes in their entirety. Unless these cuts are made the publication will be classified as objectionable. If the excisions are made the explicit sexual nature of the remainder of the content requires a restriction to an adult audience to prevent the likelihood of injury to the public good.

The Classification Office has considered the effects of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 on the application of all the classification criteria. The right to freedom of expression has been weighed against the likelihood of injury to the public good if the publication is available. Limitations on availability are required to minimise likely harm. The classification of the unexcised version of the DVD as objectionable, and the subsequent restriction of the excised version to an adult audience, is reasonable, demonstrably justifiable and the minimum required to avoid likely injury to the public good.

In this instance the Classification Office has been advised that the excisions will not be made and therefore the publication is classified as objectionable.
